

Airshow China - International General Aviation Forum (to be updated constantly)

1. Introduction

With the stable growth of economy and the improvement of infrastructure, China has put the opening of low-altitude airspace on agenda and created a favorable environment for the utility of general aircraft. The Chinese general aviation market is now of great potential and attracts attention from the worldwide industry insiders.

In concurrent with Airshow China 2010 that gathers aviation industry policy makers and business leaders, the "Airshow China- International General Aviation Forum" will take place in afternoon, Nov.17, 2010. The forum will serve as an important platform to promote the general aviation development in China and to facilitate the international cooperation and exchange in the industry

You are welcome to visit Airshow China and participate the International General Aviation Forum.
